DEATH OF DR.

J. H. GRADY.

The End Came at Quincy, Illinois, April 22d, Very Unexpectedly.

BORN AND REARED IN ADAIR COUNTY.

The news of the death Dr. of J. H. Grady, which occurred at Quincy, Ill., last Tuesday morning brought sorrow to many hearts in this town, where he resided for many years, practicing his profession. He was known to a large majority of the grown people of Adair county, especially the heads of families, in whose homes he had practiced, and the intelligence of his demise will be received with sorrow in all parts of the county.

His death was sudden, though he had been in declining health for some time. The evening before his death he ate a hearty supper, went to his room, telling his daughter that he felt very much better. Some time before day he passed away. His position in bed, his features, indicating that his passing was peaceful.

Dr. Grady was a high gentleman, and his individuality marked him as a man who had opinions, and upon all questions, political and social, they were unreservedly expressed; and those who could not at all times agree with him honored and respected him for his true manhood. The chances of losing a friend did not deter him when public questions were being discussed and positions asked. He spoke his mind fearlessly and stood hitched when his opinions were once expressed.

When the Civil war came he espoused the cause of the South, entered the Confederate army, serving under Morgan, and was a gallant soldier until hostilities ceased. In death, lying in his casket, dressed in his Confederate uniform, he looked perfectly natural—a gratification to his many friends.

Before entering the army he had begun the study of medicine under his uncle, Dr. Samuel B. Field, and when the war closed he again took up the study, and in a few years he graduated from the Louisville University of Medicine. Returning from school, it was only a short time until he was married to Miss Kate Saulley, of Monticello, who was sister of the late Judge Mike Saulley, who died a few years ago at Stanford. To this union two children were born, Dr. Clarence Grady, who lives in California, and Mrs. S. A. McKay, at whose home death came, Quincy Illinois.

Soon after marriage he located at Albany, where he successfully practiced until he removed to Columbia, more than thirty years ago.

He was born and reared at Gradyville, the town having been named for his father, Capt. Wm. Grady, and was seventy-one years old.

His remains were shipped from Illinois to this place, arriving Thursday afternoon at 6 o'clock, stopping at the home of Miss Sallie Field, which is occupied by Mr. Geo. H. Nell and family. This residence was the deceased first home in Columbia—boarding with his uncle and studying medicine.

Thursday night and Friday morning many friends called to view the remains and to express their sympathy to the daughter, Mrs. McKay.

The deceased was a zealous Mason, being a member of Columbia Lodge, No. 96, and Columbia Chapter, No. 7, Royal Arch Masons, these two bodies having charge of the remains after reaching this place.

Friday morning the lodge met in its hall, and after making the usual appointments, marched to the residence, took charge of the remains, and from thence moved to the Methodist church, the deceased being a member of that organization, and where a memorial service was held by the pastor, Rev. J. S. Chandler and Judge H. C. Baker, the oration being delivered by the latter, who was a schoolmate, and who had been intimate with the life and character of the deceased for more than a half century. He spoke of Dr. Grady's valor in war and his heroism in time of peace, reciting how he left his home in Albany and came to Columbia to wait upon friends when cholera was raging in this place. The life and drum cheers in time of battle and stimulates the soldier to walk into the jaws of death, but when men and women are dying with a contagious disease, when nothing can be heard but the hooting of the owls, it takes a greater courage to face such a disease than it does to go into battle. Knowing the great danger, that he might lose his own life, Dr. Grady rode into Columbia and administered to the afflicted until the terrible scourge had spent its force.

At the close of the services at the church the remains were conveyed to the city cemetery and laid to rest by the side of his wife, the usual Masonic ceremony being used. There were many flowers.

The physicians of the town and county had the profoundest respect for Dr. Grady, and in testimony of their high esteem, marched in a body to the grave.

This town extends its deepest sympathy to the devoted daughter, who came with the remains, and the son, who is in California, and all other relatives.

Birthday Dinner.

On last Saturday, April 19th, Mrs. Nancy L. Hughes, of Craycraft, celebrated her 66th birthday anniversary. Such a splendid dinner has never been surpassed in this part of the country.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blair, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blair and children, Pearl, Clyde and Chelsea, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Blair and children, Paul, Earl and Cecil, Mr. S. I. Blair and two children, Ray and Carl, Mr. Elijah Bryant and three children, Misses Nannie and Pauline and Alonzo, Mrs. Etta Burrell and baby, Vernon, Mrs. L. E. Polley and children, Bascom, Buren and Nellie.

Mrs. Hughes received many nice gifts. It is the wish of the writer that Mrs. Hughes may live to see many more birthdays and entertain her friends as pleasantly.

Yours Truly,
Bascom Polley.

A CARD.

To the Voters of Adair County:

As a candidate for County School Superintendent I have been asked to state my position to consolidated schools and county bonds.

As a rule, I am opposed to consolidation in Adair County; for I think there are very few localities where it would be practicable. I would favor it in any locality where it is practicable, where it would work no special hardship on any one, and where the decided majority of the patrons concerned desire it. But I am positively opposed to consolidating against the wishes of a majority of the patrons interested.

I am against the county bond proposition.

Very Respectfully,
Tobias Huffaker.

The time for spring cleaning has arrived. Besides beating carpets and sunning beds, the outhouses, fencing and shade trees should have a good coat of whitewash, and disinfectants sprinkled where ever needed. Do not wait until disease comes before making preparations to stay it. Head it before it arrives.

Mr. E. H. Bryant, who has been in the jewelry business, Campbellsville, for a number of years, died Tuesday last week. He was sixty-four years old and a consistent member of the Baptist Church. If our recollection is correct he was a native of Lincoln county.

All the Plum Point bridge has been taken from the river and a gentleman arrived from the Champion Bridge Company a few nights ago, and the work of the replacing the structure is now in progress. It will take but a short time to do the work.

E. W. McKinley has opened a marble yard at Knifley, Ky., and is prepared to furnish all kinds of grave stones at reasonable prices. Write him for particulars. Ad. 26-1t

Mr. Jas. C. Helder, a well-known traveling man, who made Columbia several times a year, died at his home at Dayton, Ky. He left a number of relatives in Lebanon, his mother being a Miss Carter, a native of Marion county.

The good citizens of Cane Valley have recently been annoyed with some very bad conduct, and if certain persons do not mend their ways there will be something doing when the grand jury convenes.

Mr. W. B. Scott, who lived near the Mt. Pleasant Church, Breeding precinct, died last Saturday. He was a soldier in the Federal army. He was seventy-odd years old.

Born, to the wife of J. G. Eubank, April 23, 1913, a son. The mother and baby are doing nicely. The father is in his usual good health.

J. H. Nance (Toney) was acquitted in the Taylor circuit court upon a charge of house burning.

Walnuts as Egg Producers.

In my poultry yard is a walnut tree which commenced to grow there, a seedling, about thirty years ago. It is now eighty-nine inches in circumference at the stump, two feet from the ground, and its branches reach out many yards in every direction. It is now a noble tree and bushels of walnuts grow on it, while its shade affords a grateful retreat for biddy and her flock during the hot summer days, and its limbs a roosting place for the older birds.

I have very recently learned of another way in which it contributes to her pleasure as well as her profit as an egg producer, a fact which may be known to others, but it was not to me. Not until this spring did I learn what a bonanza I had in this tree as an egg stimulator.

The walnuts of last fall were left upon the ground as they fell, save a few bushels, hulled, dried, and placed away for family consumption (?) It did not occur to me to make provision for biddy also by storing away a supply for her, but casually gathering a handful of the walnuts which had been left upon the ground, and breaking them I discovered that they were uninjured by the winter's freezes and rains. The kernels seemed fresh and well preserved. Whatever of protein and the other elements of food were in them earlier in the season, were in them still. I tasted them, and they still had the walnut taste—very palatable to a lover of walnuts. While I was making this examination and test, biddy stood by, apparently much interested in what I was doing. She said not a word even by a cluck, but she watched me with an intensity of interest I could not fail to observe, and she said to me by her actions, if not by words, "I opine they are all right, suppose you divide with me."

The appeal was not to be resisted. "All right, old lady," said I, "if that is your wish you shall share in the treat," and with that I commenced cracking them for her. In a little while others came, and then in a few moments my whole flock of Plymouth Rock were around me scratching, and pecking out the meat to their great edification. Even the old "setter" left the eggs which she had been nursing and came clucking as happy as a girl on her first automobile ride, to take part in the entertainment, and every cluck seemed to be a thank you.

The next day I took my seat again under the walnut, and without a call the whole chicken family gathered about me. I cracked the walnuts for them, while they pecked and scratched and sang, and thus it has gone on from day to day in the spirit of a genuine reciprocity, walnuts for eggs and eggs for walnuts. I think biddy has made up her mind that she will do no brooding while the treat continues. I bought a setting of fine eggs in anticipation of the event, and they are spoiling by the delay, but she declines to "set." She intimates that she can't "set" while the walnuts last. She can't "set" and "lay" at the same time, and under the circumstances it is a physical impossibility for her to cease laying.

Three nice cottages, two with six rooms each, one with three rooms, good water and out buildings, lots adjoin. The rental value pays taxes, insurance and interest on $4,000.

Address H. N. Beauchamp, Box 222, Campbellsville, Ky. Adv. 26-1t.

On Saturday, May 3rd, a primary election will be held in Campbellsville, the men to be voted for, applicants for the post-office. There are quite a number who want the position and will enter the contest. In our judgment the primary will cut no ice with Congressman Ben Johnson, who has announced, in the public prints, that he will endorse Mr. W. I. Meader. An effort to influence him to change his mind, in our opinion will make him all the stronger for the applicant he has named.

May 2 and 3 have been set apart by the State Board of Health as clean up days. The idea is for every family to use white wash liberally. Swatting flies is all right, says the physicians, but it is better to stop the breeding by using disinfectants.

Monday was Arbor Day and many trees were planted throughout the State.

Next Monday will be county court and the candidates will be busy during the day.

St. Marys Wins.

The last game of the season was played between St. Marys and Lindsey-Wilson here Saturday afternoon. Considering the fact that the home team had to work against strong, well trained college men, several of whom are minor league players, they played well and put up interesting game.

Snyder and Payne composed the battery for St. Marys.

One of the features of the game was the pitching of Snyder, who struck out thirteen men and allowed only three hits.

The battery for Lindsey was Sullivan, Hancock and Wolford.

Sullivan pitched good ball, but having been sick for several days weakened in the sixth inning and was relieved by Hancock, who left a fine record to his credit, striking out nine of the twelve men up, and allowing not a man to reach first base.

The final score stood 7-2 in favor of St. Marys.

A word of praise is due the Lindsey team of this season. It is one of the best the school has ever had and, for young players, has done most excellent work.

Surprise Dinner.

On April 22 Mr. Luther Williams was greatly surprised when he returned for dinner to find so many guests, it being his 41st birthday.

The neighbors and friends began to arrive early in the morning and continued until the noon hour, every one bringing well-filled baskets. The table was loaded with good things—anything you could call for most. When the table was ready and filled, Mr. O. L. Williams returned thanks. There were 68 took dinner, and after dinner was over they spent the afternoon very enjoyable. Every one seemed to be cheerful. We hope Mr. Williams will live to see many more birthdays like this.

State Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Kentucky State Dental Association, to be held in Lexington May 26-28, promises to be of more than usual interest to the dentists of this and neighboring States. Numerous new methods and appliances will be exhibited, and the clinics are to be conducted on a very elaborate and unique plan. Many dentists from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Tennessee will be in attendance. Dentistry, unlike many professions, cannot be learned from books and magazines, consequently it is obligatory for the progressive man to attend these meetings. The Lexington dentists promise many interesting social features, and, in fact, the entire program will prove a rare treat to all in attendance.

To Stock Breeders.

I have a three year old half Coach horse out of a Red Squirrel mare. He is a good one, and will be permitted to serve a limited number of mares, at $5.00 to insure.

I also have a splendid Jack, service, $6.00.

Sad Death at Picnic.

Monday forenoon of last week, Mrs. Mattie Stotts, who was the wife of F. M. Stotts, died at her late home, Picnic, this county. She was comparatively a young woman and was highly respected in the neighborhood, and her death brought sorrow to many homes. She leaves a husband and two little daughters. The sympathy of the entire neighborhood is extended.

Mrs. Stotts had made her peace with God and was ready for the summons.

The Columbia Cemetery Association will meet at the Hancock Hotel Saturday afternoon at 3:30. All members are requested to be present.

The New Baptist Church an Assured Fact.

The building of the new church by the Columbia Baptist congregation is a certainty. The Building Committee notified the Sunday School last Sunday that active steps would be taken to prepare for the new building and that it would be necessary to find another place. The committee appointed for that purpose has secured the Court-house and on next Sunday we trust all will be present. The Presbyterians and Christians have tendered the use of their churches which our pastor and the entire membership most heartily appreciate and, since we will be several months in the completing of our building, the decision has been reached to accept the generous offer of both, occupying the Christian church on our regular days for three or four months, then the remainder with our Presbyterian brethren. Prayer-meeting services will not be held Wednesday night—but arrangements will be made and announced next Sunday at the Christian church.

Since writing the above the congregation has decided not to call off the prayer meeting, and it will be held each evening at the court-house. Hour, the ringing of the bell.

Eloped.

Mr. Virgil Wesley and Miss Anthony Wells, of Glenville, eloped to Tennessee last Thursday, returning Saturday. The couple went to the home of the groom's mother where they received many friends, who extended congratulations and best wishes for future happiness.

Sudden Death.

Mr. Sam Dodd, who was a prominent citizen of Bloomington, Ind., died suddenly one day last week. His wife, who was Miss Nellie Winters, reared in Columbia, survives him. They had no children. When the end came Mrs. Dodd was making preparations to visit her old friends in this place. Every body who remembers the devoted wife feels for her in this time of her greatest sorrow.

The rain, last Saturday, interfered with the anniversary celebration of Odd-Fellowship in the United States which was billed to have been observed at Jamestown, the lodge in that place, the one at Russell Springs, and visiting Odd-Fellowers participating. Quite a number of the brethren of Columbia Lodge, No. 230, had arranged to be present, but the weather kept them at home. We understand many others were detained for the same reason. The rain checked about the noon hour, and those present went through an interesting program, a six o'clock dinner being served.

I keep on hands a full stock of coffins and caskets, also robes; hearse. Prompt service night or day. Phone 29.

Dr. U. L. Taylor was eighty years old one day last week, but he is hale and hearty for one carrying the weight of so many years. For several birthdays in the past he has made it a rule to sing a solo the following Sunday morning after the event before the Christian congregation. Last Sunday he rendered the song, the name of which we failed to get, but have been informed that the sentiment was "passing away". It was pathetic, well rendered for an old man, bringing tears to many eyes.

Candidates of both parties, in Russell county, are reminded that the News has over four hundred subscribers in their county. Counting five readers to the paper, you have two thousand people in Russell county reading the News weekly. If the candidates want all the people to know of their candidacy for office, they should announce in The News. The fee would be $5 for each announcement.

In our judgment the best all round college ball team that has been on the Lindsey-Wilson grounds was there last Saturday—the St. Marys' nine. They were all well built young men, who evidently had been kept busy, practicing for sometime. They moved rapidly upon the diamond and field, not a one of the number who was not on to his job.

Singing at Zion next Sunday afternoon, led by Jones and Cabbell. Every body invited.

The May American Magazine.

A cynic once said that if he ever confessed he would confess in 400,000 words. Then nobody would take the time to read his confession, and his would undiscovered. The Money Trust investigation was not, of course, the confession of anybody's sins, but it ran to fully 400,000 words. Busy people could not possibly afford the time to read it at all. It remained for some great national journalist to study the whole matter, digest it, and present the essential points in 5,000 or 6,000 words. This is precisely what Ida M. Tarbell has done in the May American Magazine. Her article is one of great interest and great value.

Other important contributions to the May American Magazine are: "The Friendly Fire-Fiend," the first of a series of Homeburg sketches by George Fitch, the Illinois humorist; Brand Whitlock's recollections of "Golden Rule" Jones; a new "Adventure in Contentment" by David Grayson; "Health and Horse-Power" by Dr. Woods Hutchison, and the "Autobiography of a Theatrical Press-Agent." There is a great array of notable fiction, and the regular departments, "Interesting People," "The Interpreter's House" and "The Theater" are unusually attractive.

Special humorous features are contributed by James Montgomery Flagg, Gelett Burgess and Abe Martin. Three prize-winning letters are also published in the contest entitled "The Wittiest Man I Ever Knew."

Coughs and Consumption

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living to-day." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1. Recommended by Paul Drug Co. Ad.

AN ACQUIRED TASTE.

Odd Compliment That Was Paid to an English Artist.

Richard Wilson, the English landscape painter, was not of a pliant disposition. Conscious of his own merits, he disdained to humble himself to those who measure men by rank and value them by pounds. But Wilson's friends liked him no less for his brusque manner.

Goldsmith, Sterne, Wilson and Dr. Johnson were assembled at Garrick's house with a party of ladies for supper.

"We were very lively at your expense indeed, gentlemen," said Mrs. Garrick, rallying them for having arrived late. "To punish you for not obeying our summons the ladies likened you all to plants and fruits and flowers."

"Pray let us hear," said Wilson. "Doubtless I come in for a sprig of laurel."

"No, sir," said the pretty, lively lady; "you are wrong."

"For rue, perchance," said he.

"No, sir; guess again."

"Why, I am dubbed bitter enough, perhaps a crab," said he, "for that man," pointing to Garrick, "has dubbed me Sour Dick."

"Guess again," said Mrs. Garrick, laughing. "Will you give it up?"

"Yes, madam."

"Why, then, sir, you are likened to olives. Now, will you dare to inquire further?"

"Let me see," said Wilson, with all eyes upon him. "Well, then, my dear, out with it! I dare."

"Then know, sir," said she, rising and courtesying most gravely. "Mr. Wilson is rough to the taste at first, tolerable by a little longer acquaintance and delightful at last."—Exchange.

CAUGHT THE BLUFFER.

De Wint's Clever Ruse That Sold One of His Paintings.

Peter De Wint, the English landscape painter, was accustomed each year to have a semi-private show of his pictures before sending them to the Water Color society's exhibition. On such occasions his friends frequently bought pictures, which, of course, appeared at the public exhibition marked "Sold."

Among the painter's friends was a wealthy man who wanted to appear a patron of art and at the same time keep his money. He managed this by loudly admiring the paintings already sold. He was always a bit too late to buy the pictures that pleased him most, and having seen them, as he was wont to declare, he could never content himself with less beautiful works.

De Wint at last suspected the man's sincerity, and when the next show day came round he concluded to test him. After plenty of time had been allowed for De Wint's friends to make their purchases the rich man arrived. As usual, his eye soon fell on two "perfect gems" marked "Sold." Turning to the artist, he said: "Now, De Wint, those are exactly the things I should like to possess. What a pity they are not to be had."

"My dear sir," said the painter, stepping him on the back, "I knew you would like them, so I put the tickets on to keep them for you."

The awkwardness of the situation was only relieved when the enthusiastic admirer became the somewhat unwilling purchaser of the two "gems"—Youth's Companion.

Resistance to the Sun.

Animals whose capacity for thermal regulation is limited, such as rabbits and monkeys, rapidly succumb to exposure to the tropical sun. In the same circumstances the skin of a man rises some 3 or 4 degrees C. above the normal. Theoretically the black skin of negro races should absorb more heat than that of the white people. However, colored races are better able than the white to regulate their temperature under the influence of the tropical sun perhaps because perspiration is more abundant. The ape, although a native of the tropics, is less capable of resisting the sun than other animals and even the white man. This is no doubt attributable to the fact that its natural home is in the forests. For certain monkeys two hours of exposure to the tropical sun is fatal.

A Unique Laboratory.

Outside the harbor of Sfax, Tunisia, in the shallow water of the clear Mediterranean, is situated a biological laboratory for the study of sponges. It is one of the most unique in the world and affords opportunity for observing the development of the sponge from tiny larva, so small that it can only be studied under a microscope, until five years later it has developed into a perfect sponge.

Two Sides.

"There are two sides, you know, to every argument," said the ready made philosopher.

"Yes," replied the gloomy person, "but it makes a difference which side you choose. There two sides to a piece of fly paper."—Washington Star.

An Exception.

"Money, after all, means nothing but trouble."

"Still, it is the only kind of trouble which it is hard to borrow."

RAVEN BIRD.

This fine Stallion will make the season of 1913 at my barn 2 miles from Jamestown and will be permitted to serve mares for $8.00 to insure a living colt. Money due when colt is foaled or mare traded or removed from neighborhood or bred to other stock. All care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur.

RAVEN BIRD sired by Red Bird 1956, he by Cabell's Joe Brown 1955, he by Cabell's Lexington 3234, by Gist's Black Hawk. 1st dam Anthilia Thompson, by Thompson's Lexington, he by Cabell's Lexington 3234, by Gist's Black Hawk. 2nd dam by Caldwell's Denmark, he by King Denmark. 3rd dam Bonie, by old Nat Brown 81.

RAVEN BIRD is a beautiful mahogany bay, full 16 hands high, 6 years old, has the best of eyes, feet and legs, a beautiful head and neck, a very heavy well set tail, which he at all times carries to perfection. He possesses extreme speed, style and action, and the most perfect disposition of any stallion I have ever seen or handled. He has fine distinct galls, and goes them all in a most attractive manner. He is one of Red Bird's greatest sons, and has proven himself an excellent breeder.

BILL McFARLAND.

ready begun, and the council had already granted it the franchise it wished, renewed its privileges for another twenty-five years. When Mayor Jones vetoed the bill, the council prepared to pass it over his veto, and would have done so that Monday night had it not been for two men—Mayor Jones and Mr. Negley D. Cochran, the editor of the "News-Bee," a newspaper which has always taken the democratic viewpoint of public questions. Mr. Cochran, with his brilliant gift in the writing of editorials, had called out the whole, populace, almost, to attend the meeting of the council and to protest. The demonstration was so far effective that the council was too frightened to pass the street railway ordinance. The attorney for the street railway company was there, and when there was a lull in the noise, he sneered:

"I suppose, Mr. Mayor, that that this is an example of government under the Golden Rule."

"No," replied Jones in a flash, "it is an example of government under the rule of gold."

WED. APRIL 30, 1913.

Vernon Richardson, Washington correspondent to Danville Advocate, paid Attorney General James Garnett the following compliment in writing to said paper, of a recent date: "Attorney General James Garnett, of Frankfort, who has been in Washington for a few days, having appeared before the Supreme Court in a case of interest to the State. He has a host of friends in Washington who are always pleased to meet him. The genial gentleman is making Kentucky one of the most able Attorneys Generals that she has ever had, and right now the State needs a man of his type more than it ever did in the past. When he leaves the office he will have left a record that his friends will be duly proud of—for he is measuring up to the great demands of that department in every respect. General Garnett has a daughter at the Woman's College of Kentucky, and is intensely interested in the success of that grand institution."

You scarcely pick up a daily paper but you see where a girl from fifteen to seventeen years old has disappeared from home with a strange man she chanced to meet, listening to his wooing. They remain together, traveling over the country from city to city, but the treachery of the man crops out, the girl is deserted, and after a time makes her way back home. It all depends upon the training of a girl child as to what she will do. If parents, especially the mother, would commence instructing the child as soon as she is old enough to understand—tell her of the devils in the world—who bring ruin to homes, it would not be often that a girl would go astray. They should be taught not to countenance lecherous scoundrels, and to keep only the best company.

Mr. Samuel Hart, one of Russell county's best citizens, is announced in the News this week for jailer of said county, subject to the action of the Republican party. Mr. Hart is a gentleman who stands high with his neighbors, is conscientious in all his undertakings, and what he does he does well. There is not a doubt but he would make a faithful official, a man who would attend strictly to his business. He is to be voted for at the August primary and he would be truly thankful if his friends would turn out and support him. His political record is clear, and his moral standing is as good as the best.

In commemoration of the bloody battle at Chicamauga 50 years ago, Chattanooga announces perfection of the plans for entertainment of the United Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans who will hold their 28th annual Reunion May 27-29. High officials of the G. A. R. state that Chattanooga's expenditures for entertainment and amusement, etc., will be on a more lavish scale than was ever necessary for their meetings, even surpassing the high water mark at Los Angeles. It is expected in Chattanooga that upward of 12,000 veterans will be present.

Mr. J. M. Richardson, the editor of the Glasgow Times, is to succeed Mr. W. H. Jones as post master in their home town. Mr. Richardson is a most ardent Democrat; was a loyal supporter of Congressman Thomas in his race against John Rhea for the nomination, hence the Third district Representative would have shown ingratitude for valuable services had he failed to endorse the editor of one of the best Democratic papers in the State, The Glasgow Times.

Mr. J. N. Meadows, the present County Attorney of Russell County, is a candidate for renomination and election. He has made a very efficient officer, is popular throughout the county, and there is not a doubt but he will be nominated in the coming August primary. If he should again be elected he promises a faithful continuation of his duty as a county official.

Zion.

The farmers of this Community are taking advantage of the nice weather by preparing to plant corn.

J. D. Eubank was in this community several days last week.

Eldridge Barger who has been teaching in Chattanooga, Tenn., has returned home for the summer. Mr. Barger is an experienced teacher.

The Misses Murrell, daughters of Nathan Murrell and Mr. Anderson Murrell, visited in this community last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Lewis Young has returned from the infirmary, Louisville. We are glad to welcome him in our midst again. No one is so missed by our young people as Lewis.

Rev. O. P. Bush was greeted by a large audience last Saturday forenoon. On account of bad weather very few people were present at the night service.

Prof. R. O. Cabbell has returned from Cumberland county where, he conducted a class in music.

Mr. Guy Farris, of Taylor county, was in our midst Sunday.

Misses Mary Willis and Nona Conover, of Gadberry, were the guests of Mrs. Mont Montgomery last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Sue Miller, Texas, and Mrs. Montie Dohoney, Columbia, visited Mrs. Fannye Montgomery Sunday.

Quite a number of our farmers were in Columbia Tuesday.

Mr. Lucien Gadberry and family visited relatives at Gadberry last Sunday.

Misses Elna and Matt Barger and Alley Garnett and Mr. Eldridge Barger left Saturday morning for Cumberland county to visit the family of Mr. George Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison and two children, Jesse and Zelma, visited Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Willis Sunday.

Mt. Pleasant.

The farmers are anxiously awaiting a better class of weather, as the last few days nearly put them out of business.

Three of our friends and neighbors, Messrs. Josh Butler and son, and N. C. Butler have had the misfortune to fall to their lots two serious accidents—the former having a valuable mule to get a leg broken—the latter losing a much thought of family mare.

Between plowings, Messrs. James Butler and Ed Hood are putting up a string of wire fencing which adds greatly to the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hood visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hood, last Sunday.

Quite a number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. H. W. Cundiff to spend a few pleasant hours, and bid his son, Herbert adieu on the eve of his return to Louisville, where he had a position with the L. & N. Railroad.

Mr. Tom Cundiff, of Little Cake, is visiting his son, Will.

Miss Eliza Conover made a business trip to Columbia last week.

Mr. R. E. Murrell is not only in the hog trading business, but horses and hogs as well, as a few days ago he sold to Mr. Wilbur Smith a farm horse, and his brother, David, a pair of mules.

Mr. W. H. Cundiff, the man behind the "bellows," who has been quite sick, has sufficiently recovered to resume his work in the shop.

Every now and then we have a new business opened in our community, the addition being an "expert photographer," who catches them a going and a coming.

Misses Cora Smith and Rena Cundiff are spending the week in Columbia.

Mr. Ed Vanhoy's business steadily increases, and he has a nice load of poultry for Campbellsville this week.

From Illinois.

I left my old Kentucky home February 26, 1913. Since then, I have traveled over quite a bit of Illinois. The good roads are just fine, and the country is just one mass of beautiful scenery. I am located on the State road, leading from Jacksonville to Springfield.

Jacksonville, the county seat of Morgan county, is an educational center of the Illinois Valley. The Illinois Woman's College and The Illinois College are located here, besides the school for the deaf, the institution for the blind, and the hospital for the insane, a trio of state institutions.

I will close and if this escapes the waste basket I will come again.

We understand our assistant overseers have been appointed, and roads have been divided. The amount of money given to the roads near here, will not be sufficient to make a beginning toward putting them in proper shape, and by spring again they will be in worse condition than at first.

It does not take one with much foresight to see that making roads with the amount of tax we have will be a dismal failure, and that the money is thrown away.

Good roads are cheap at most any cost, while bad roads are dear at nothing. Surely our fiscal court could have done better than this.

NOTICE

JOE

This celebrated stallion will make the season of 1913 at Will Johnson's barn, 4½ miles south of Columbia and 1½ miles west of Gadberry on Pettits Fork creek, and will serve mares at $6.00 to insure a living colt. He has proven to be a good breeder.

JOE is a dark bay, 16 hands high, heavy built, good style, has the best of eyes, feet and legs, and in fact a perfect model in every respect. He is a Cleveland Bay and the best work horse I ever seen, and quiet and easy handled for women to drive, so he needs no further introduction.

Money due when colt is foaled. All care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur.

We will also stand a good 6 year old Jack at the same place on same condition as horse at the low fee of $5.00. This Jack is 14 hands high and has proven himself a good breeder.

My Childhood Home.

(By Sorilda Hale)

I have tried to tell of my childhood home, But methink its beauty I've not much known, 'Twas the loveliest spot that I ever knew, 'Way back on the hills where the violets grew.

There the butterflies flitted on gilded wings, And the world seemed full of beautiful things: In my memory this picture will always abide, I can't tell of its beauty, though oft I have tried.

Oh! the charm that rested o'er the tree covered hills, And the low, sweet music of the winding rills, Where from morning till evening, all the day long, I've oft heard the music of the birds sweet song.

There the many wild blossoms, so fragrant and fair, And the bright garden beauties given tenderest care, With the green, graceful flowers and the azure blue skies, All made my life seem one glad, sweet surprise.

But the friends of my childhood—Oh! where, where are they? They have passed, all passed from our earth away; And oft in my fancy I see each dear face; For time from my memory these cannot erase.

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge.

In the matter of William L. Gadberry bankrupt. In bankruptcy. To the Honorable Walter Evans, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Kentucky.

William L. Gadberry, of Sparksville, in the County of Adair and State of Kentucky, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 24th day of February, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court, touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are expected by law from such discharge.

Dated this 25th day of March, A. D., 1913.

William L. Gadberry, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice Thereon.

Mr. Pleasant.

The health in this community is fairly well at this writing.

All of our farmers are getting in a hurry to plant corn. Several have already planted.

Mr. Claud Callison, wife and little daughter, Virginia, and Mr. John Faulkner, wife and son, Joe, were visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Will Vanhoy's last Sunday.

Miss Linnie Hutchison and Master Frank Callison were visiting Miss Hattie Massie last week. Mr. Claude Callison's little daughter, Virginia, is visiting at her uncle's, Mr. Horace Massie, the other side of Campbellsville.

We want to know if Mrs. Sallie Butler and driver have visited Columbia yet.

We are having some fine weather now and people are planting their gardens.

Owensby.

The farmers are progressing nicely with their farming

Mr. Ezra Moore, wife and sister, Miss Laura, of Jamestown, spent Sunday at this place.

Mr. Leonard Bradshaw, our blacksmith, is getting along fine. Mrs. Martha E. Barger, spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Royle, at Garlin.

Mr. Jim Dunbar, sold a horse to Mr. Joel Nelson, for $150, and bought a filly from Mr. Mark Bernard, of Russell Springs.

Mrs. Oma Wolford spent a day or two of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray, Sewellton. Mrs. Louise of Albany, was also visiting her parents.

Mr. Finley Wilson and wife, of near Russell Springs, are now residents of this place.

Sunday School at Bethel is progressing nicely with B. B. Simms as superintendent.

Married, on the 12th inst, Mrs. Viola Bennett, of this place, to Mr. Harrison Stanton, of Russell Springs. We understand they met for the first time, the day previous.

Rev. J. M. Goodin filled his regular appointment at Mt. Vernon, the 3rd Sunday.

Mrs. Leona Collins is confined to her room at this time.

Mrs. Cleo Warren, of near Jamestown, is visiting her son, Tom, who lives at the Meadow's place.

Sam Polson sold a cow and calf, for $50, and bought another of O. B. Clayton, for $40.

Herbert Barger and wife, visited Mrs. Barger's parents, of near Sewellton from Saturday until Sunday.

Mrs. Martitia Carter, who has been confined with rheumatism, is able to be out again.

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally. This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Carrie McDonald, 1036 Trigg Ave., Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Sallie E. Griffith, Veechdale, Ky., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work. Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Making Bathing Caps

The following is taken from the May Woman's Home Companion:

"Ripping up a discarded bathing cap for a pattern, one woman was surprised to discover the small amount of material it contained, and instantly realized that she could afford to make and retail them for twenty-five cents, half the price charged in the shops. With half a dozen charming samples of her own she set about soliciting orders. Her lower price and daintier article made a wide appeal and trade became brisk."

THE PASTOR SPRINTED.

He Made a Good Run in Record Time With Plenty of Reason.

One of the traditional stories of the town of Fairfield, Conn., recounts a wild dash from the pulpit made by a worthy and beloved pastor of the Episcopal flock, Dr. Labaree.

It was on a Sunday more than a hundred years ago. The service had been read, the prayers said, the hymns sung, and the parson began his sermon. As he proceeded his gestures became very energetic. He brought his right hand down with great force. Then he turned pale, cleared the pulpit stairs at a bound, dashed out of the church door and ran toward the pond a short distance away.

The congregation followed in bewildered pursuit and saw their venerable pastor with flying robe rush into the water until it came to his neck. Then, turning round, he faced his astonished audience and said:

"Dear beloved brethren, I am not crazy, as no doubt many of you think, but yesterday at the drug store I bought a bottle of nitric acid and carelessly left it in my pocket today.

"My last gesture broke the bottle. I knew the suffering the acid would cause when it penetrated my clothing and rushed for the water to save myself pain."

He drew several pieces of glass from his pocket in witness of the tale. Then he dismissed the company and hurried home.

FROZEN WITH HEAT.

A Remarkable Process Known as the Caloric Paradox.

Freezing is usually associated with cold, but water can be frozen on a red-hot plate. This pretty experiment has rightly been called the caloric paradox.

If a drop of water is placed on a red-hot or white hot metal plate it does not suddenly dash into steam under the influence of the great heat. It does not even boil. It simply evaporates quietly and slowly as it rolls about the plate. Now, suppose that the drop on the plate is a volatile liquid like sulphurous acid. It will evaporate, and this evaporation will produce cold. Let a drop of water fall in the sulphurous acid drop and it will be frozen in spite of the heat.

M. Boutigny thus froze water on a white hot platinum capsule. Faraday carried this remarkable experiment even further. Pouring some ether and solidified carbonic acid gas on a red-hot platinum capsule, he formed a spheroidal mass which evaporated very slowly. He then brought some mercury into contact with it, and this was instantly frozen. Now, mercury requires a temperature of 40 degrees below zero to solidify it, and here it was frozen on red-hot platinum.

No "Deadhead" Trip.

One of the most famous of American shipping lines in the palmy days of our marine was the Cope line, which ran between Philadelphia and Liverpool; says the author of "Memoirs of Charles H. Cramp." By this line John Randolph of Roanoke determined to go to Russia when he had been appointed minister to that country by President Jackson. Entering the office of the company in Philadelphia, he said to a clerk in his usual grandiloquent manner:

"Sir, I wish to see Thomas P. Cope." He was shown to Mr. Cope's office.

"I am John Randolph of Roanoke," he said. "I wish to take passage to Liverpool in one of your ships."

If he expected to be tendered a pass he was grievously disappointed.

"I am Thomas Cope," replied the head of the line. "If thee goes aboard the ship and selects thy stateroom and will pay $150 thee may go."

An Ant's Sewing Circle.

A party of German naturalists recently returned from Ceylon have reported the existence of a species of ant that has been observed in the act of sewing two leaves together for the purpose of forming a nest. This report confirms the observations of the English naturalist Ridley, made in 1890. They saw a row of the insects pulling the edges of leaves together, then others trimming and fitting the edges, and finally the completion of the work by still other ants which fastened the edges with a silky thread yielded by larvae of the same species the workers carried in their mandibles. It is said that the sewing ants pass the thread-giving larvae like shuttles through holes in the edges of the leaves.—Boston Post.

For the Boy's Sake.

A Rosetown man stopped smoking for the sake of his young son. "If I smoke I shall set him a bad example," he argued and gave up tobacco with many sighs of regret. For three years he has done without the weed. The other night he found a box of little cigars in the boy's coat pocket, a well smoked briar pipe in the youngster's tool box down cellar and a pack of cigarettes in the woodshed.—Newark News.

His Experience.

"In order to succeed in any line of business," said the great merchant, who was given to the habit of moralizing, "one must begin at the bottom." "I tried that," replied the young man with the fringed trousers, "and now I'm on my uppers."—Exchange.

Burglars got $250,000 worth of jewelry from one New York Pawn shop. Perhaps New Yorkers use such places as storage vaults.

An Eastern genius has invented a machine to count bank notes from a pile and register the total amount. It is improbable however, that an attempt will be made to cater to family trade.

A Girl of Forty At a Tea Party.

In the May American Magazine, James Montgomery Flagg, the well-known wit and illustrator, contributes a piece with pictures about tea parties. It is entitled, "Cream or Lemon." Following is an extract descriptive of one of the "girls" at the party:

"The 'girl' was a slip of forty—in spinach green corduroy and scarab tippet, and a large swaying meteoric mass of tarnished zinc and colored glass which she wore suspended on what ought to have been her chest. It made Paul think of the bumpers tug boats wear to protect their wishbones from docks and things. She had backed a curly-haired infant up against a radiator and was talking him to a frazzle, while he smiled and smiled, although scorching."

A warning to men of wealth that the national unrest must be reckoned with was sounded by Vice President Marshall in a speech before the National Democratic Club at New York.

Pains All Over!

"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guffey, of Broken Arrow, Okla., "to use my letter in any way you want to, if it will induce some suffering woman to try Cardui. I had pains all over, and suffered with an abscess. Three physicians failed to relieve me. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever before, and that means much to me, because I suffered many years with womanly troubles, of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Don't wait, until you are taken down sick, before taking care of yourself. The small aches and pains, and other symptoms of womanly weakness and disease, always mean worse to follow, unless given quick treatment.

You would always keep Cardui handy, if you knew what quick and permanent relief it gives, where weakness and disease of the womanly system makes life seem hard to bear. Cardui has helped over a million women. Try it.

BIRTH OF COLONEL BOGY.

Origin of the Term That Has Become a Part of Golf.

"Who is Colonel Bogy?" That is the first question usually asked by the recruit when he steps on the golf links. Professionals and veterans never tire of explaining that he is the imaginary opponent, with the fixed score for each hole, but few can tell how the name originated.

It generally is accepted that an Englishman was first to set forth the idea. In December, 1890, the scratch score of the Coventry course was taken, being the score that a good scratch player would take to each hole of the grounds, making no mistakes, but also fluking nothing nor being fortunate with any special flashes of brilliant play.

At the time they called this "the ground score," and later several tournaments were given under the system. The name, however, followed soon, and its origin was a curious one. Dr. Thomas Browne, R. N., went out to play against a friend, Major Charles A. Wellman, and they agreed instead of playing directly against each other to play against the ground score and decide their match accordingly as each fared in this way. It so happened that about the same time the bogy song was being sung by the late E. J. Lonnen at the London Gaiety theater, and everybody else was singing it. The words of the refrain were:

Hush! Hush! Hush!
Here comes the bogy man!
So hide your head beneath the clothes.
He'll catch you if he can.

There was the idea in golf. "He'll catch you if he can!" And it flashed across the mind of Major Wellman when he was playing this game and was getting "caught" by the ground score. "Why," said he to his friend Browne, "this player of yours is a regular 'bogy' man." A considerable piece of golf history was made in that chance remark, for "bogy" was from that moment established in golf. Some time later "colonel" was added.—Exchange.

A WALRUS ON LAND.

The Awkward and Bulky Creature Is Almost Helpless.

As might be expected, a walrus is about as helpless on land as a canal boat. It is with no little difficulty and much hitching and floundering that he drags his huge bulk upon a sandy shore even with the boosting he gets from behind by the breakers as they roll in and dash against him.

His hind flippers are of little use on land, and on sand or pebbles, where his front flippers do not hold well, the labor of floundering forward is so great that he never stirs beyond the edge of the water and usually lies with his body half awash, with the salt spray dashing over him like torrents of rain. On solid rock or ice he gets along much better, and often a herd will spread several rods back from the water's edge.

The females and younger walruses have far less development of neck to incumber them and therefore enjoy more freedom of motion than the old males, who actually seem a great burden to themselves. These creatures are strictly social in their habits and always go in herds, whether travelling, feeding, fighting or resting ashore. In the days before the slaughter of all living creatures became a ruling passion in the breast of man the Pacific species inhabited the whole of Bering sea and strait in herds which often contained thousands and even tens of thousands of individuals.

Gave Himself Away.

A man who is steadily employed finally had a day off and decided to go fishing, taking his luncheon with him. When he reached the creek he discovered that he had dropped the lunch packet somewhere on the road and hastened back to look for it. Presently he met a husky negro, who was looking happy and picking his teeth.

"Did you find anything on the road as you came along?" asked the gentleman.

"No, sah," answered the negro. "I didn't find nothing. Couldn't a dog have found it and eat it up?"—Everybody's.

Cleopatra's Pearl.

Most persons know the story that is told of Cleopatra to illustrate her luxurious habits of living—that she dissolved in her wine a precious pearl. No one seems yet to have questioned what must have been the effect upon the drink, but scientists scoff at the possibility of such solution. The fact is pearls are not soluble in wine. The most powerful vinegar affects them, slowly and never entirely dissolves them, for the organic matter remains behind in the shape of a spongy mass that is larger than the original pearl.—New York Press.

Gradyville.

We have had beautiful weather for the past week or so.

Will Lyon, of Campbellsville, was here the first of the week calling on our merchants.

W. L. Grady attended the funeral of his uncle, Dr. John Grady, at Columbia last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Moss, of Nell community, passed through here one day the first of the week en route to Columbia.

Amos Keltner bought a work mule from Henry Keltner last Tuesday for $135.

Quite a number of our people put in several days of last week fishing with very good results.

Alford Parson has been improving the looks of his dwelling by giving it a new coat of paint.

Rev. John Roach, of Eastfork, who has been in bad health for several months, was in our midst last Tuesday looking well and reports his health greatly improved.

Mr. J. F. Pendleton, of Greensburg, was in our community one day last week receiving hogs at the market price.

Clem Keltner bought last week a combined horse from W. H. Rose for $150.

The good weather of the past week our farmers put in planting corn and quite a number are through.

Chas. Diddle, one of the L. W. T. S. students, spent last Friday night with his parents in our city.

Miss Mallie Moss and Mrs. Susan Grissom, of Columbia, visited relatives at this place last Saturday and Sunday.

We are glad to note that Nat Walker, who has been troubled with rheumatism for the past month or so, has about recovered, and is now able to see to this farm work.

Mr. W. B. Scott, a well-known pensioner, who lived in the Western part of this county, died last Friday morning with dropsy.

Messrs. James Gilpin, Ollie Breeding and Cager Coomer, of Sparksville, were in our midst one day last week, they report business very good in their community.

Please remember that the first Sunday in May there will be sacramental services at Union, preaching at eleven o'clock sharp and Sunday School at ten o'clock. Every body invited to be present.

Mrs. Dunbar, of Jamestown, accompanied by her son, of the L. W. T. S., Columbia, spent last Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Strong Hill, of our city.

We have heard our farmers, for the last week or so, complaining about their tobacco plants disappearing from their beds from some cause. From the way they are talking, there certainly will be a scarcity of plants in this section.

Several of our farmers have adopted a new kind of fertilizer this season, and that is, using lime on their ground, driving it in with a corn drill just like they would fertilizer.

Rows X Roads.

I am just in from Casey county again. I am trying to keep up five churches. That is quite a job for a boy of my age, 68 years old.

LEE CHELF.

P. S. To the lady bringing me the most eggs, during the 9 days I will give a $1.00 dress pattern. To the lady bringing me the most pounds of chickens during the 9 days I will give a $1.00 dress pattern. To the lady or gentleman buying the largest amount of goods during the 9 days I will give $5.00 in gold.

Now, Mr. Editor, if you eve pass by the way of Barnett's Creek, Rife Creek, and out the Tennessee Ridge, just call yourself a United Brethren preacher, then act just like a preacher ought to act, and you will find good homes and many kind friends.

I am getting along very well with my church work. I want all good people to pray for me for I need their prayers to help me on in my good work.

Now as to the road law, I think it the thinnest thing yet. I am not opposed to the road tax, but the way much of it will be spent. Give me the old six days law and five miles of the road with 12 hands and $50 in cash not to go in some boss's pocket book, but on that road in extra work, and at the end of 12 months, I think I would have a better road than I am afraid we will have now we are paying five or six hundred dollars for a man to ride over the county to look at the road. That won't fill up a mud hole. What we need on the roads is work, and this tax money to make brldges etc.

Some of the people were about ready to pray for it to rain, but the good Lord saved them of the job, a good rain fell last night.

Emmer and Alda McKinley spent last week with their uncles, Mitt Wolford, Mac McKinley and Dr. Wm. Blair. Alda is the girl that has been sick so long, but she is much better than she was a few months ago.

Alvin McElroy and Dora Wells were married last week.

Mr. Sam Stevenson and wife, of Columbia, are visiting the latter's father, Mr. Bill Cook, this week.

Knifley.

Miss Sallie E. Murphy, of Casey county and Miss Nannie Russell, of Columbia, visited friends and relatives in this neighborhood a few days last week.

Wilbur Beard bought of Lonzy Perkins, one cow and calf, price $55.50.

Mr. Philip Sherrill spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Humphress, of this place.

L. R. Chelf went to Louisville last week to buy goods.

Dolph Bryant sold one cow and calf to a Mr. Wethington, for $50.

Noble Peacock

NOBLE PEACOCK the best Stallion in Kentucky, will serve this season for the low price of $10.00 to insure a living colt.

NOBLE is 5 years old 15½ hands high, is a beautiful bay with white hind feet, strictly sound and the best saddle horse I ever backed. He is showing the best lot of colts this spring I ever looked at.

NOBLE is by Jordan Peacock 1148, the best breeder that was ever in Adair county, his colt shows at the Columbia Fairs is evidence of the fact. Noble's dam is by Artist Jewel, 2nd dam by Cromwell Denmark 73, 3rd dam by Artist 75. There is not a better bred stallion living than Noble Peacock, and I will guarantee every good mare that is bred to Noble, to bring a high class colt with both ends up.

HIGHWAY and JACK O'DIAMONDS

My two fine Jacks will stand for $10.00 for mare mules and $8.00 for horse mules to insure.

HIGHWAY'S colts sold last fall as high as $120.00. I sold a pair of 2-year-olds the 29th day of March, to W. T. Thompson, of Hart county for $440.00. This was two of the finest mules that were ever raised in Adair county, and they were by Highway.

JACK O'DIAMONDS was 2 years old last fall and is a good prospect. He was sired by G. Y. Thompson's 16 hand Jack, at Centre, Ky., for which Mr. Thompson has been offered $1200. Jack O'Diamond's dam was by Governor St. John a 16 hand Jack.

When you breed to my stock you are breeding to the best. I have been in the Breeding business 34 years, and I do not keep anything but the best.

If mare is traded or removed out of the neighborhood where she is bred before folding time the season is then due.

Respectfully,

W. L. Grady.
